

“The Run-In”

On the afternoon of May the Sixteenth, the staff of the June '98 session was working on the perfection of walking and marching skills. While the staff was marching, we mysteriously stumbled upon Mr. Hall in an intriguing position inside an obscure location. The stunned staff awkwardly stared at Mr. Hall, who stared back with a kinky smile. When we asked sources about the incident, we were informed that he was in the progress of making his own “mudd pie.” Mr. Hall gave us his recipe:

- * Burst a pipe.
- * Dig a hole in the ground, four foot by four foot.
- * Saturate with water from pipe. Drain using “Bucket Brigade.”
- * Stir mudd with White Stag Staff.
- * Submerge yourself in hole. Enjoy!!!
- * Don't forge to decorate with cellular phones, spades, rocks, ruined articles of clothing (especially footwear), Golf Carts, and mosquito eggs.

You Mean You Saw Staff Washing?

After the incident at the “pool,” many were still extremely unclensed. Many staff members were still overly dirty, even for their tastes. Because the water to the camp had been shut off, and the showers were out of order, these staff members were forced to find alternative methods of cleansing in the creek. Poor, Poor Fishes!!!

Useless Fact

A lobster's heart is in its head.

Riddle

What eight letter word has kst, in the middle, in the beginning and at the end?

Thought for Your Day

A kiss is valid proof that two heads are better than one.

Help us!

The staff of the Daily Stag are interested in your ideas. Please contact the ASPLs if you have any. Thank you